NEWS REVIEW 2016

The A34

'Dangerous road, no longer fit for purpose'

THE A34 has seen a number of accidents in its time.

But on Wednesday, August 10, a horrific tragedy occurred.

Tracy Houghton, 45, her two sons Ethan, 13, and Josh, 11, and her partner's daughter Aimee Goldsmith, 11 were all killed instantly when lorry driver Tomasz Kroker ploughed into a queue of cars.

In total, four lorries (including Kroker's) and fours cars were involved in the incident.

Dashcam footage from Kroker's lorry which was shown during his sentencing at Reading Crown Court in October captured him looking at his phone until less than a second before triggering the eight-vehicle crash, by which point he didn't have enough time to stop.

He was jailed for 10 years.

Following the fatal crash, Wantage MP Ed Vaizey led the debate in Westminster for the A34 to have a full safety review.

He called for the Government to do more to improve safety and ease congestion following the number of accidents on the road.

Speaking back in October, Vaizey said: "The A34 is no longer fit for purpose.

"It's a dangerous road, and the delays and accidents that happen regularly on the A34 are having a significant economic impact on one of the most productive areas in the country.

"So action is long overdue and the need to urgently improve road safety alone would justify significant investment of money and time from the Department for Transport and Highways England."

• Tomasz Kroker was jailed for 10 years for causing the deaths of four people

A month later and Thames Valley Police joined a nationwide campaign to crackdown on drivers using their mobile phones behind the wheel.

• From left, Aimee Goldsmith, Ethan Houghton, Josh Houghton, Jake Goldsmith and Tracy Houghton pictured on holiday - just days later all but Jake Goldsmith were killed

Didcot Power Station

Tragedy as four killed in collapse of boilerhouse

THE collapse of Didcot Power Station's boilerhouse led to an agonising seven-month wait for the families of those trapped under the rubble.

In February half of the boilerhouse suddenly came down while workers from contractors Coleman and Company were preparing the building for demolition.

Four men – 53-year-old Mick Collings, 61-year-old John Shaw, 57-year-old Ken Cresswell and 34-year-old Christopher Huxtable – were killed in the tragic accident.

Mr Collings' body was found straight away, but it would take months before those of the other three could be safely recovered.

There was outrage from family members at how long the process was taking, with some staging a peaceful protest in March.

Concerns over the structural integrity of the remainder of the boilerhouse, and fears it could collapse at any time before it was brought down in July, delayed the work from starting.

Mr Huxtable's body was finally retrieved from the rubble at the end of August, before Mr Cresswell and Mr Shaw were found over the next two weeks.

An investigation is currently under way by Thames Valley Police and the Health and Safety Executive into what went wrong on that fateful day in February.

Adrian Greenwood murder

Bookdealer brutally killed for £50,000 Wind in the Willows

IN April, a 50-year-old man from Peterborugh brutally murdered art dealer and historian Adrian Greenwood at his Oxford home.

Six months later and Michael Danaher was sentenced to life imprisonment where he will spend at least 34 years behind bars.

But why was the murder committed?

The attack was fuelled as Danaher found out that Mr Greenwood owned a £50,000 first edition of 'The Wind in the Willows'.

Prior to the killing, the two met on March 17 where the murderer bought two crates of books from the historian.

He then revealed that he would return in a few weeks to buy more if the books sold.

When he next visited Mr Greenwood's house on Iffley Road on April 6, Danaher fatally attacked the art dealer, leaving him with 33 stab wounds suffering injuries to his head, chest, neck, back and limbs.

Moments after the attack, Danaher took a selfie.

Mr Greenwood's body was found by his cleaner the following day.

During the trial, it was revealed that Danaher was obsessed and motivated by greed, as he had compiled a list of celebrities and well-known personalities he had planned to kidnap and steal from.

Famous names he planned to target included Kate Moss, Michael Parkinson, Eamonn Holmes, Katie Hopkins, Rio Ferdinand and Greg Dyke.

• Adrian Greenwood was killed by Michael Danaher at his home in Iffley Road, Oxford in April

Growing debate over need for more housing

PROPOSALS continue to be debated on where to build the thousands of homes that are needed to house Oxfordshire's growing population over the coming years.

Earlier this month Vale of White Horse District Council formally adopted its local plan, setting out where more than 20,000 houses should be built across the district by 2031.

This includes a 2,500 estate in between Great Western Park in Didcot and the edge of Harwell, as well as large developments near Wantage and Abingdon.

South Oxfordshire District Council has put forward plans for 3,500 homes at Chalgrove Airfield this year

There has also been ongoing discussion about what to do with Oxford's unmet housing need of around 15,000 homes, as it has been accepted that the city won't be able to accommodate all of these.

The districts are prepared to split some of this between them, but South Oxfordshire voted against this after arguing its share was too high.

Away from housing, the Westgate shopping centre in Oxford is now less than a year from completion, while plans to redevelop the West

• Didcot is set to get thousands of new homes over the coming years, while the Westgate shopping centre is set to reopen next year with a new look and new stores

Way centre in Botley were approved in June, after years of discussions.

Details about phase two of Didcot's Orchard Centre are still to be released with the promise of more retail and restaurants set for 2017.

Has Your Double Glazing Steamed Up?

Established for over a decade Cloudy2Clear windows have become a leading company for glass replacement. Issues with double glazing can often be gradual and may only be noticed during a clear sunny day or during the winter. A failed glass unit may no longer provide you with the protection you need or be energy efficient. Why not spend a few minutes checking your home to see if you have any failed double glazing? If you act now you can avoid these problems.

NEWS REVIEW 2016

• Oxfordshire voted to stay in the European Union as the country chose to leave and David Cameron chose to leave his job as PM and later as MP for Witney

Politics

PM steps down as UK votes to leave EU

WHEN David Cameron started off 2016 as Prime Minister, little did he know he wouldn't even be an MP nine months later.

His decision to hold a referendum asking whether the UK should remain in or leave the European Union in June ultimately put an early end to his political career.

After backing the 'remain' camp, Cameron stepped down as Prime Minister following the decision that saw 52 per cent of voters opt for leaving the EU.

It was a surprise result as the polls had tipped 'remain' for a narrow victory, but in the end Oxfordshire ended up being the only county choosing to stay in as Britain opted for Brexit.

That sparked Cameron's resignation as Prime Minister the following day, with Theresa May taking over the top job within a month.

Cameron had vowed to stay on as MP for Witney, but by September had changed his mind and chose to step down, saying he did not want to be "a distraction" to the newly-formed Government.

A by-election was held the following month, and Conservative candidate Robert Courts fended off a strong challenge from the Liberal Democrats to take the seat, and become Witney's newest MP since 2001.

Take a nautical adventure to ease someone's mind!

Christmas and New Year: it's the season when we load up the car with brightly-coloured parcels, and children if we have them, and pay those annual visits to relatives across the country whom we can't pop in and see on a daily or weekly basis. It used to be the season too for the roadmap (and squabbles in the front seats): however, many cars now have a built-in SatNav which makes life easier but maybe relying on technology to guide our way is too much of a good thing?

The mobile phone is the latest tool in our battle to understand dementia so that scientists can better fight its progression in populations around the globe. There's a nautical adventure, the 'video-game' Sea Hero Quest which we can all download on a mobile device, and sail a boat round desert islands and through arctic oceans to save an old mariner's lost memories as you remember a sequence of buoys in order to negotiate past them to the next level, or take a meandering path to a destination where you fire a flare back home.

While you play the game, data on your sense of direction and navigational ability is recorded anonymously, and amalgamated with that of all the other players - so far two and a half million– to make a difference. The total of the time played around the world is equivalent to nearly seventy years of gameplay, which makes 'Sea Hero Quest' the largest dementia study in history

By looking at 'internal compasses' and the trends in their navigational ability over a lifespan, according to findings presented at a global Neuroscience Conference (which was packed with over 30,000 neuroscientists, doctors and researchers last month), the data harvested from Sea Hero Quest indicates that teenagers are the best at navigating and that sense of direction declines measurably as people get older. As disorientation and getting lost is one of the first symptoms of Alzheimer's disease, it is thought that this game could be used to create a test for dementia.

Interestingly the results suggest that there are differences between the abilities of men and women (though this isn't a good topic of conversation when you're lost down a country lane on the way to Auntie Bertha's) and that the Nordic nations have better navigational abilities than the rest in the world. Scientists are now considering why and this too, in time, could give us an additional insight into the progress of dementia and how to slow or halt it. Is there a 'Viking' gene that bestows a better sense of direction, or do people in coastal communities have to learn skills which remain with them throughout life, for example?

Either way, we've all heard the saying 'use it or lose it' and a loss of navigational skills is key to the onset of dementia, so while we don't advocate moving to the seaside and learning to direct a longboat by the stars, perhaps switching off the SatNav might be a start? After all, Santa Claus has managed without a SatNav for centuries and he's always gets it right with his deliveries!

And you can find out more about Sea Hero Quest and make your contribution to the research by playing the game here www.seaheroquest.com.

MONEY MATTERS

An Autumn Statement Round Up

There will be an increase in the personal allowance for 2017/18 to £11,500 with the higher rate threshold being increased to £45,000.

The intention is for the personal allowance to increase to £12,500 and the higher rate threshold to £50,000 by the end of this parliament.

After the personal allowance reaches £12,500, it will rise in line with CPI in future years.

National Insurance

From April 2017 class 1 national insurance thresholds for both employees and employers are to be the same therefore national insurance will be triggered on weekly earnings above £157.

Class 2 national insurance contributions are to be abolished from April 2018. The Chancellor confirmed that contributory benefit entitlement for the self-employed will be accessed through the payment of class 3 or class 4 NICs.

All self-employed women will be able to access the standard rate of maternity allowance.

Salary Sacrifice schemes are often provided by employers in order to save employees money. An employee will give up part of their salary in exchange for a non-cash benefit. The attraction of this arrangement is that no tax and NICs are payable on the amount of the salary sacrifice. Many such benefits are now going to be taxed but some schemes such as childcare vouchers, pension contributions, cycle-to-work and use of ultra-low emission cars will not be affected and will continue to offer tax savings.

Some examples of the type of scheme that will no longer attract tax perks are company cars and car parking near your workplace, gym memberships, school fees and mobile phones and PCs.

If you are either already on a scheme, or join one by next March, that is being withdrawn you will keep the tax benefits until April 2018 and existing schemes for cars, accommodation and school fees will be tax-free until April 2021.

The withdrawal of some salary sacrifice schemes means these perks will now be benefits in kind and the government will need to consider how they will be valued for tax purposes.

Property and trading income – there will be 2 new income tax allowances of £1,000 each therefore individuals with trading income or property income below the level of the allowance will no longer need to declare or pay tax on that income.

The trading income allowance will now also apply to certain miscellaneous income from providing assets or services.

Termination payments in excess of £30,000 which are subject to income tax after April 2018 will also be subject to employer's national insurance contributions.

The first £30,000 of a termination payment will remain exempt from income tax and national insurance, subject to the existing rules on eligibility for the exemption.

Non-domiciled individuals will be deemed UK domiciled for tax purposes if they have been a UK resident for 15 of the past 20 years, or if they were born in the UK with a UK domicile of origin from April 2017.

Inheritance tax will be charged on UK residential property when it is held indirectly by a non-domiciled individual through an offshore structure, such as a trust or a company from April 2017.

The government will make it easier for non-domiciled individuals who are taxed on the remittance basis to bring offshore money into the UK to invest in UK businesses and to claim business investment relief from April 2017.

Savings

The ISA limit will be increased to £20,000 from 6 April 2017.

The band of savings income that is taxed at the starting rate of 0% will remain at £5,000 in 2017/18.

A new 3-year investment bond will be introduced from spring 2017, with an indicative rate of 2.2%. The bond will offer the flexibility to save between £100 and £3,000 and will be available to those aged 16 or over.

Pensions

The annual allowance for money purchase schemes will be reduced to £4,000 from April 2017 in order to prevent double pension tax relief being obtained when pension savings are recycled.

The tax treatment of foreign pensions will be more closely aligned with the UK's domestic pension tax regime by bringing foreign pensions and lump sums fully into tax for UK residents.

A number of other changes are being made to foreign pensions, which include the closure of specialist pension schemes for those employed abroad to new saving.

Capital Gains Tax

The income tax and capital gains tax exemptions for shares issued under the employee shareholder status will be abolished for arrangements entered into on, or after, 1 December 2016.

The tax treatment between onshore and offshore funds is to be equalised. Performance fees will not be deductible against reportable income from April 2017 and will instead reduce the tax payable on any disposal gains.

Inheritance tax relief for donations to political parties will be extended to parties with representatives in the devolved legislatures, as well as parties that have acquired representatives through by-elections. This will be effective from the date of royal assent of the Finance Bill 2017/18.

ENTERTAINMENT & LISTINGS

Two consecutive shows for BRB

By James Richings

YOU know it's the Christmas season when Windsor based covers band The Big River Band arrive in Oxford.

The group of musicians perform in the city every Yuletide at a number of Oxford's most popular hotels, with members Renee Sears and Gerry Power playing at two venues this December.

And after performaning on Boxing Day at the Oxford Spires Four Pillars Hotel, the twosome will perform their penultimate show of the year at the Oxford Thames Four Pillars Hotel on Friday, December 30.

The group are best known for their versatility as they can perform jazz, swing, pop, rock, soul, Motown, country and ballroom songs that date back to the 30s.

And it's fair to say that Renee is excited about the final gig in Oxford.

"We usually only perform at The Oxford Thames once a year around Christmas time and it's a lovely hotel," she told the Guardian.

"The staff are very friendly and look after us well and we hope to be able to perform there with the whole band at some point as I believe they have wedding receptions there and other private parties.

"Plus, the clients are always nice.

"After all the excitement leading up to Christmas, it's nice to be a bit more relaxed and play some more laid back styles."

After Gerry and Renee met back in 2003, the two formed a friendship that led them to the creation of The Big River Band.

Since then, various full-time musicians have joined the group, which has seen them perform all over the country.

And with eight gigs already lined-up for 2017, Renee believes the future looks bright for The Big River Band.

Away from the band, Renee is an actress who has worked as an extra on shows such as 'Eastenders' whilst Gerry teaches guitar and ukulele for private students at the Saint Pirans School in Maidenhead and at The Royal Grammar School in High Wycombe.

The band will also play a few original numbers on the night.

"When we play our original music and you can see that people enjoy it or tell us they enjoy it, it really is something very special," Renee said.

"Bringing pleasure and enjoyment to people is what life is about a lot of the time, and if we've played at a party and they've had a really good time dancing or having fun, that's excellent and we feel a part of their fun too."

The free gig will begin at 9pm.

On the night fellow Oxford-based covers group The Revelators will join them.

The free gig starts at 9pm.

New Year's Party

Cinderella: A family classic

Review by James Richings

"LADIES and gentlemen please say hello to the maid.

"She's sad and depressed so just like Swindon. It's Cinderella'.

This was how the booming announcer revealed the title character to the Oxford Playhouse audience at the Beamount Street venue.

12 months ago, I had the pleasure of watching Aladdin the Pantomime to help me get into the festive spirit.

One year on, and I can honestly say that Cinderella did the exact same trick.

Starring Rochelle Rose in the lead role, the production focuses on a young maid who is being bullied by her ugly twin stepsisters Martha (Joe Alessi), Arthur (Stephen Ventura) and her stepmother Trumpelina (Julia Innocenti) which immediately made the younger audience members warm to the heroine.

The storyline was traditional. Prince Charming (Max Olesker) is looking for the love of his life and organises a ball where all the single ladies in the area are invited.

Cinderella receives an invite to the disgust of Trumpelina who rips it up and laughs evilly as she leaves the stage.

Much to the disappointment of Trumpelina's new husband and Cinderella's father

Joe Alessi as Martha, Julia Innocenti as Trumpelina and Stephen Ventura as Arthur (photo by Geraint Lewis)

Baron Hardup (Mark Monero), he and the Fairy Godmother (Lorna Gayle) encourage the maid to go to the ball, as they believe that she will eventually live happily ever after.

The panto was full of life, energy, charisma and audience interaction, which really made the show work.

One thing I must praise writer and director Steve Marmion for is that he included references to being body confident in the production.

For example, there is a scene between Cinderella and the Fairy Godmother where the former doesn't believe she will be the right fit for the Prince's Ball, as she thinks she is not like all the other girls in the land, by suggesting that she is not slim and perfect.

The Fairy Godmother disregards this before the two perform a cover of Meghan Trainor's 2014 number one hit, 'All About The Bass'.

And even though Gayle might have forgotten one of her lines during the number, where she grinned and did a sly wink to the audience as she acknowledged her mistake, the two performers still received a huge round of applause.

I even overheard parents sharing their delight about this inclusion.

You know it was a 2016 pantomime when you had references to Brexit, Nigel Farage and Donald Trump.

Covers of popular tunes by the likes of Prince, George Michael, Eurythmics, Rihanna and Beyonce were all greatly appreciated by the crowd.

Stand out performers? Well, Rose's kind-hearted demeanour as Cinderella and Alessi's and Ventura's comedic timing, as the ugly stepsisters were certainly one of the many highlights of the show.

The shows runs until Sunday, January 8.

Starting the new year with a bang

By James Richings

• Stewart Lee, left, Miles Jupp and centre, John Partridge as Zaza in La Cage Aux Folles

WHAT a year 2016 has been.

The last 12 months have seen hundreds of musicians, comedians, musicals and operas command the stage at Oxford's theatres.

But it's now out with the old and in with new, as 2017 is just around the corner.

So what does the first month of the New Year have up its sleeve?

The Burton Taylor Studio kicks off its 2017 entertainment bill with 'Probably the Best Comedy Songs in the World Ever, Maybe', on Wednesday, January 4.

Pat Abernethy and Dave Marsden arrive at the Beaumont Street venue with a piano and perfect comedy timing as they perform hits from Elvis, The Righteous Brothers and Flanders and Swan with a comedy twist.

A day later on Thursday, January 5, comedy play 'Boxed In', arrives at the BT Studio.

Suitable for over 14s, the play looks at two females who feel they are boxed in, as they face battles with mental health issues and body confidence.

The Burton Taylor Studio's partner, the Oxford Playhouse will then have comedian Miles Jupp arrive at the theatre on Saturday, January 14.

The comedian and actor arrives in the city as part of his UK tour, 'Songs of Freedom'.

The end of the month will see fellow stand up Stewart Lee return to the theatre with his, 'Content Provider' UK tour.

He comes to the city from Monday, January 31 to Saturday, February 4.

Meanwhile at the New Theatre, the first act to grace the George Street venue will be, 'La Cage aux Folles', which will take place from Thursday, January 5 to Saturday, January 7.

The musical, which has been produced by Bill Kenwright, tells the story of Georges and the drag artiste Albin, who is the star at the drag club La Cage aux Folles, in St Tropez.

But one day, Georges' son Jean-Michel announces his engagement to the daughter of a notorious right-wing politician who is determined to close down the local colourful nightlife.

Six days after the run ends comedian Jack Whitehall will visit Oxford as part of his 'At Large' UK tour.

The panelist on A League of Their Own is also a writer and actor, and stops off in the city on Sunday, January 15 and Monday, January 16.

The New Theatre will also host The Johnny Cash Roadshow on Friday, January 27, with musical 'Vampires Rock: The Ghost Train' stopping off in the city a day later on Saturday, January 28.

And the final act at the New Theatre for January will see multi-awarding show, 'Sunny Afternoon' take place from Tuesday, January 31 to Saturday, February 4. The show looks at how The Kinks became of the UK's most successful groups.

The Old Fire Station in Oxford is also hosting a number of events in January, which includes 'The Psychic Project'.

The play examines events during the Cold War.

Ford Ranger Wildtrak

By Anthony Yates

I RECENTLY managed to get hold of a new Ford Ranger Wildtrak – and to be honest I was not expecting much from it due to the fact that for me there is only really one proper off-road vehicle and that is of course a Land Rover - and it's been that way since as long as I can remember or maybe even from the beginning of time – so when the Ford Ranger finally turned up on my drive sporting its Botox arches – I was a little surprised to find that actually it looked quite epic sitting there in its Pride Orange paintwork and 18" wheels.

Power and Efficiency:

The Wildtrak is fitted with a 3.2 litre Duratorq TDCi (200 PS) engine with 470Nm of torque and a combined fuel consumption of around 34.0mpg. So, with all that torque – it will basically tow a ship – so no worries there then.

Design & Technology:

Inside was also kitted out very well, and here are some of the features you can expect to get as standard on the Wildtrak version; Titanium front grille, 18" machined alloy wheels, power-foldable mirrors with titanium effect painted housings, integrated side turn indicators and puddle lights, body colour front bumper with painted inserts, Titanium effect painted rear step bumper, plastic moulded side steps with brushed-finish metallic inserts, Titanium effect door handles plus Aluminium finish roof rails.

And, Aerodynamic sports bar with integrated loadbox illumination, wing grille with Wildtrak logo, Radio/CD/SD-Navigation system with 8" TFT touchscreen, Ford SYNC 2 with Voice Control and USB connection for external music devices, rear-view camera, a choice of seven ambient interior lighting colours, with dimming control and Leather-trimmed steering wheel with Wildtrak stitching.

Yes I know what you are thinking – its looks nice but I bet it can't go Off-Road. Wrong! – It does that brilliantly too. I kid you not, it was better than I ever imagined it to be and that's partly thanks to Ford's clever four-wheel drive system that is optimised by a comprehensive ESC system. Part of this system is also Traction Control, which has driver-switchable settings, for all sorts of off-road driving situations.

You can also go one step further and fit Ford's Off-road Pack which includes; engine and transfer case protection, fuel tank protection to help reduce the risk of damage when driving on uneven ground and an electronic locking rear differential to help provide increased traction on the slippy stuff.

I can also tell you that the inside does not feel cheaply made either and you get plenty of toys to play with and all the controls are set out nicely with many of the buttons and switches having a quality feel. Even the seating is brilliant and nothing like you would expect from a car with 'workhorse' in mind.

To sum up:

I really was impressed by the Ranger, yes it may look like a Pop Star's 4X4 – but I'm telling you now – the Ranger is the real deal – it's a real 'workhorse'.

Price:

£26,145 (as tested).

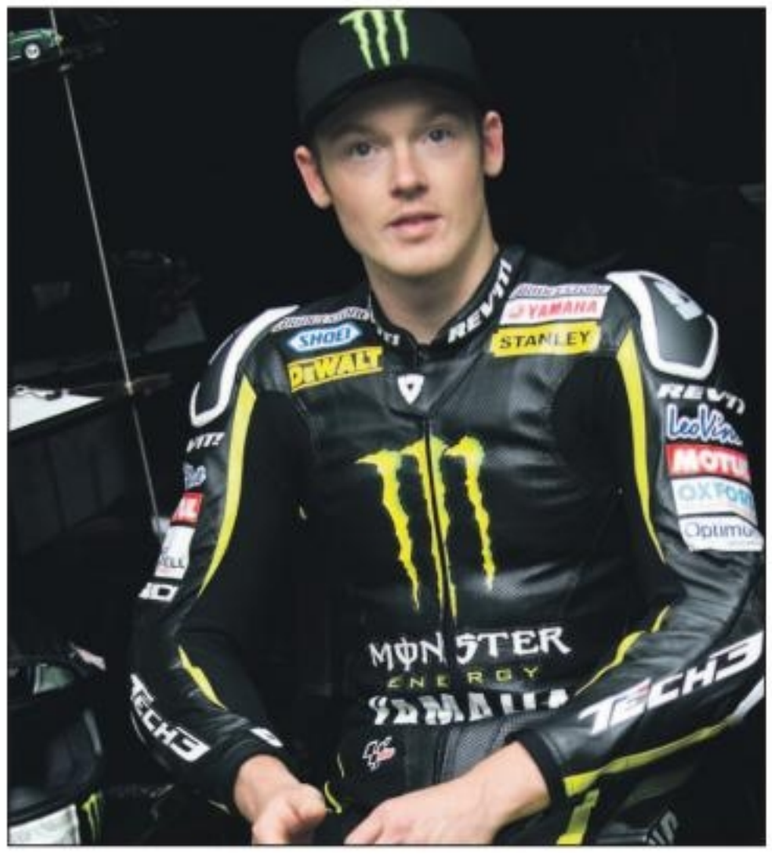
SPORT REVIEW 2016



Moto GP

AFTER finishing in sixth place 12 months ago, which Bradley Smith described as 'fantastic', the 26-year-old was hoping to improve on this when the 2016 season came about.

Instead, Smith finished in a lowly 17th position as disappointing races in Spain, France, Czech Republic, England, Malaysia, Japan and America saw the racer pick up just 62 points to his name – 119 less than last year.

His position in the final standings this year is his lowest ranking since 2006 when he finished in 19th position.

After the final race in Spain in November, Smith said: "It was a tricky race, but I gave my all and to finish in ninth is quite a positive way to end the season after what we've been through.

"I'd like to give a big thanks to the entire Tech3 team for all of their work in the past four years in MotoGP and two additional years before that in Moto2.

"I wish the guys the very best with the new riders for the 2017 season and I'll come and say bonjour again in the future."

He said following the season's conclusion: "It's been a fantastic season and almost perfect and I can't be hard on myself as I ended up in the top six. I am very proud of this but I am especially pleased with my performance in the second half of the season."

Golf

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell clung on to his European Tour card after a disastrous year.

Having missed seven cuts in his eight tournaments from August to November the 25-year-old fell outside the top-110 in the Race to Dubai, meaning he did not automatically keep his card.

The Frilford Heath golfer required a top-25 finish at the six-day Qualifying School event in Spain last month after his drab run at the end of last season.

But an upturn in form at Q School allowed Pepperell to finish joint fifth to recapture a place on tour for 2017.

After saving his European Tour card, Pepperell said the experience was "exhilarating", but he will be expecting much more next year after describing his dire form in the second half of the year as "in recession".

He said in September: "This year so far has been a struggle.

"If I viewed myself the way I'd look at the economy, I would soon realise that I'm in a recession.

"My golf has been heading backwards for around a year, and it took me nine months to realise it before making a structural change (changing my coach).

"Now I'm in the period of starting a few things up again and making a couple of necessary, albeit difficult changes."

But it wasn't all bad for the Abingdon man who finished tied eighth at the Dubai Duty Free Irish Open and tied sixth at the King's Cup in Thailand in July.

Pepperell made a disastrous start to the 2017 European Tour as he missed the cut at the Alfred Dunhill Championship in South Africa this month.

He will be hoping to 'peak' next year and his first tournament of the year sees him return to South Africa for the BMW SA Open on January 12.

Rugby

2016 has mixed year for Oxford's Rugby clubs.

The 16/17 season for the Oxford Harlequins has seen the side lose 10 of their 13 games already this season, with the side going down 31-12 to Witney on December 17.

After losing their first six games of the new season, which included a 77-0 away hammering to Royal Wotton Bassett, their improved mid autumn where they won three consecutive games defeating Windsor 26-24, Banbury 19-13 and Chippenham 17-10 in the process.

However, their form has dipped in the last few weeks losing four on the spin.

They hope to rediscover their winning form on January 7 when they face Reading at home.

As for Oxford RFC, they have had an inconsistent start to the new season.

Since the new campaign started back in September, RFC have played 10 times and have won six but have lost four in that time.

Their most recent game was away to Fanham Royal RFC where they left victorious as they defeated their opponents 62-0.

They hope to find better form in the new year.

Other football

TWO of Oxfordshire's non-league clubs celebrated promotion this year.

Jubilant Banbury United won promotion back to the Evo-Stik Southern League Premier Division at the first attempt with a 2-0 win over Taunton Town in the play-off final in May.

Goals from Zac McEachran and Andy Gunn clinched their play-off final victory to ensure the Puritans' stay in Division 1 South & West was a fleeting one.

Mike Ford's side are in promotion contention again this year as they sit in eighth, six points of the play-offs with two games in hand.

Meanwhile, Kidlington won promotion to the Evo-Stik Southern League after winning the Hellenic League Premier.

Division 1 South & West outfit Wantage Town, who narrowly avoided relegation last season, continue to struggle and are winless at home this campaign.

The Freds sit second bottom on nine points and eight from safety. Player-manager Stuart Cattell resigned in December to join rivals Didcot Town as a player.

Elsewhere in the division, Didcot, who finished 10th last season, approach 2017 still in mid-table.

After a slow start of just three wins between August and October, four wins out of four in November reignited their season and the play-offs sit eight points away on the horizon.

There were no repeats of their FA Cup heroics when they reached the 1st round proper in 2015 as they lost 4-3 to Hellenic side Ascot United in August's preliminary round.

It has been a mixed year for Carterton FC who, after winning promotion from the UHL Division One West resigned from the Uhlsport Hellenic Football League.

After a summer of turmoil, Carterton withdrew from the league a little over a month into the 2016-17 season as manager Ben Sadler resigned and the majority of the players left with him.

Olympics 2016

THE 2016 Olympic Games in Rio will definitely sit long in the memory for Oxfordshire based Olympians.

If Oxfordshire were counted on its own in the medals table, the county would have sat in 18th place – higher than countries such as South Africa, Jamaica and Argentina.

Athletes from Oxfordshire were victorious across five different events, but the medal haul was in no small part down to the success of rowers from Henley's Leander Club.

Leander Club, the world's most successful club in terms of Olympic medals – with 123 – accounted for 12 medals at this year's Rio Games.

A victory in the men's eight was the culmination of a brilliant games of rowing for Team GB, with five Leander men, and former Oxford University rower Andrew Triggs-Hodge taking GB to victory over Germany.

There was also a fairytale ending for Oxford Brookes' Chancellor Katherine Grainger, who made it to her fifth Games and became Britain's most decorated female Olympian, with a silver in the women's double sculls, just missing out on gold to the pair from Poland.

Outside of Team GB, Spanish Oxford-born canoe sprinter Marcus Walz claimed gold in the single K1 1,000m kayak sprint, despite being fifth in the field half way through.

Rounding off the action for Oxfordshire was 110m hurdles hopeful Lawrence Clarke, from Watlington, who was run out at the semi-final stage after finishing fourth in London 2012.

Oxfordshire was also responsible for 20 per cent of Team GB's record breaking total of 89 individual medals, with 18.

SPORT REVIEW 2016

Oxford City

OXFORD City have endured a difficult year as off the field pressures took their toll on the struggling side.

The National League South side's managing director hanged himself in the stands of the club's stadium after worrying about its finances.

Colin Taylor, 62, was discovered by three boys who arrived for training at the Marsh Lane grounds in Marston at about 9.15am on July 17.

The father-of-two from Kelly's Road, Wheatley, had been battling with depression for 10 years and was concerned about the club's money troubles, the inquest into his death in November heard.

Oxfordshire's assistant coroner Nicholas Graham recorded a verdict of suicide at the court in New Road.

The Hoops, who finished the 2015/16 season in mid-table, have spent the second half of this year looking over their shoulders after winning just two of their first 13 games.

City won three games in November to climb away from danger, but that did not stop manager Justin Merritt stepping down following a 6-0 home hammering to Hungerford on December 10.

Coach Mark Jones took control on a temporary basis and won his first game in charge 1-0 against Eastbourne Borough at Court Place Farm.

Earlier in the year, the former president of the club was jailed for more than 12 years in May for his part in a $6.6 million telemarketing scam.

Thomas Guerriero stepped down in December 2015 citing poor health and pleaded guilty to the charges in February.

North Leigh

IT has been a record-breaking 2016 for North Leigh as the west Oxfordshire side went further than ever before in this season's Emirates FA Cup and Buildbase FA Trophy.

Despite long-serving manager Mark Gee stepping down as Leigh manager after 18 years in charge in May, the Millers would become history-makers in what, so far, has been an inspiring 2016/17 campaign.

Gee, along with his long-serving assistant Terry Merriman, left the Evo-Stik Southern League Division 1 South & West outfit due to increasing work commitments after finishing the 2015/16 season in ninth place.

Former Cinderford Town boss John Brough took over during the summer after leading the Gloucestershire side to the Division 1 South & West title.

And Brough would have an instant impact as his side made it to the 4th qualifying round of the FA Cup for the first time in their history.

They hammered Thame United 7-1 in a preliminary round in August before claiming several scalps by beating higher opposition in Corinthian Casuals, Weston Super Mare and Folkestone Invicta.

The Millers would eventually crash out in the 4th round – just one round before the 1st round proper – at National League moneybags Eastleigh in October.

Despite receiving a 6-0 hammering, eighth-tier Leigh received a welcomed financial boost when the Hampshire side donated the match proceedings.

And more prize money entered the Millers' coffers as they progressed to the 1st round proper of the FA Trophy for the first time.

Leigh swept aside lowly Bridgwater Town and Yate Town before conquering higher division outfits Folkestone Invicta (again) and Kingstonian to set up a 1st round tie against Ryman Isthmian One South side South Park.

Although North Leigh forced a replay, they were eventually overpowered 3-1 at home to end their cup heroics in December.

The Millers are doing well in the league, despite the 13-match cup distraction.

In 2017, Brough's men will look to push on in their play-off push. They sit in 11th, eight points off the promotion places with four games in hand on most teams.

Other sports

AFTER a very disappointing 2014/15 season where Oxford City Stars finished in ninth place out of 10 teams, the 2015/16 campaign saw the side improve massively.

Stars finished in a respectable fourth position where they won half of their 36 league games, finishing 15 points behind league winners Chelmsford Chieftains.

In American Football, Oxford Saints had a triumphant year, as they became the 2016 Division II Champions after defeating Cambridgeshire Cats 24-2 in the play-off final in September.

In their league season, the Saints won each of their 10 league games.

British Touring Car Champion Jason Plato

Rugby League and Oxford RLFC have had a torrid 2016.

Following the structure of Kingstone Press League 1 changing, Oxford were hoping to improve on their 2015 season where they ended the campaign 10th place, winning only seven of their 22 games.

2016 was much worse as they ended in 14th position, one off bottom place, as the team only won one of their 14 league games, losing 13 of them.

In the British Touring Car Championship, Jason Plato had another average year.

Last winning the championship back in 2010, the 49-year-old finished in sixth place overall.

Throughout the season, Plato managed to achieve 10 podium places, but only finished one race in first position.

In cricket, 2016 has been a very successful year for The Bicester and North Oxford Cricket Club which saw them win 13 of their 16 games.

Formula 1

OXFORDSHIRE'S two main Formula One teams endured difficult seasons in 2016, with both Williams and Renault slipped down the table compared to last year.

After finishing third overall for the last two seasons, Grove-based Williams dropped to fifth this year, with Valtteri Bottas achieving the team's only podium finish at the Canadian Grand Prix.

Williams had picked up where they left off at the start of the year, with both Bottas and Felipe Massa picking up a number of top-five finishes.

But their performance tailed off as the season went on, and by the end both drivers were fighting in the lower reaches of the points.

Massa announced his retirement after 14 years in F1, to be replaced by Canadian teenager Lance Stroll, and while Bottas is contracted to Williams for 2017 he could yet end up in the vacant Mercedes seat.

Enstone-based Renault suffered a lean season following their buyout of Lotus at the end of 2015, with just three points-scoring finishes throughout the year,

Kevin Magnussen got the team's best result with seventh in Russia, while he and Jolyon Palmer both managed a 10th-place in Singapore and Malaysia respectively.

New for 2016 was the American Haas team – who have a base in Banbury – and they had a promising start to their time as a constructor. Romain Grosjean picked up all of the team's 29 points, and was particularly impressive in the opening four races.

Brake issues caused some problems later in the season, and Esteban Gutierrez was unlucky to end the year on zero points after picking up five 11th-place results.

He is set to be replaced by Magnussen for next season, while Renault are bringing in Nico Hulkenberg to team up with Palmer.

And there was bitter disappointment for fellow Banbury team Manor as they narrowly missed out on the financially lucrative 10th-place in the constructors' championship.

Pascal Wehrlein's point at the Austrian Grand Prix had kept them 10th up until the penultimate race of the season, where a rain-affected race in Brazil helped Sauber to leapfrog them in the standings.

The difference in finishing 10th and 11th is thought to be worth tens of millions of pounds in prize money, so was a crushing blow for the minnow outfit.

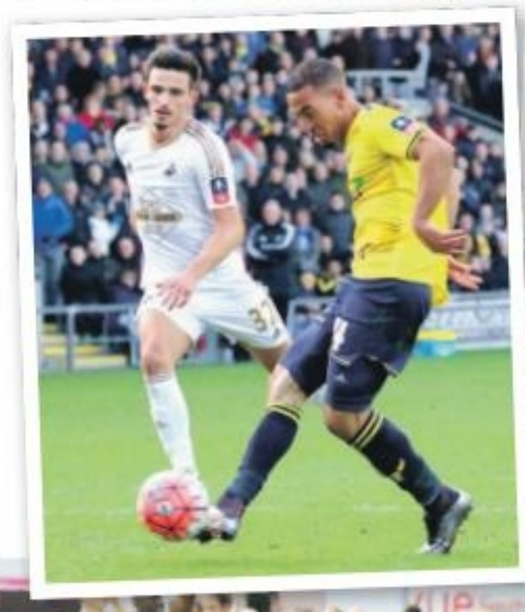
SPORT REVIEW 2016 INSIDE

Promotion to SkyBet League One and a trip to Wembley

U'S 2016 REVIEW



IT was a year to remember for Oxford United who earned promotion to SkyBet League One, enjoyed a sprinkle of Emirates FA Cup magic and made an appearance at the home of football, Wembley stadium.

The U's beat Wycombe Wanderers 3-0 on the last day of the season at a jubilant Kassam Stadium to secure the League Two runners-up spot in dramatic fashion in May.

Amid unbelievable tension and drama, a Chey Dunkley header, a Chris Maguire penalty and a last-minute goal from local boy Callum O'Dowda, sparked scenes of euphoria from the sell-out crowd.

Promotion meant Oxford would play League One football for the first time in 15 years.

January saw the end of United's remarkable FA Cup run, which saw them reach the fourth round for the first time since 1998.

The U's caused one of the upsets of the tournament as they squeezed through the third round against Premier League side Swansea City 3-2 at the Kassam.

And despite losing 3-0 at home to Championship outfit Blackburn Rovers, Appleton's men could hold their heads high following their giant-killing exploits.

The Yellows would still enjoy a day out in London however as they headed to Wembley in April for the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final against Barnsley.

The Tykes, who would go on to win promotion to the Championship, proved too strong for the U's in a 3-2 win for the south Yorkshire side in front of more than 59,000 fans.

But the successes of the 2015/16 campaign came at a cost as the summer transfer window saw two United's top performers depart to the Championship.

Kemar Roofe and Callum O'Dowda left the club for Leeds United and Bristol City respectively for a combined fee of £4m.

Some of the money was re-invested in the squad, with both Kane Hemmings and Marvin Johnson signing for six-figure fees from Scottish Premier League sides Dundee and Motherwell.

In total, Appleton signed 15 players (four loans), including the re-signing Maguire, who was only on loan for the first half of the year.

Signing permanently following his release from Rotherham United, the Scotsman has become a key player for the U's.

The 27-year-old is the club's top scorer on 11 goals in what is proving to be a fruitful season in front of goal with the U's sitting five points off the play-offs before Christmas.
